Dear Rachel,

I have just been told that your school has won the prestigious Mock Trial Competition. I am absolutely delighted to be congratulating you on achieving this. I know the standard is extremely high and very competitive. What an incredible accolade for you and your school.

Cleobury Mortimer is a beautiful part of Shropshire, very rural and the sort of place many have never visited, let alone know where it is on a map, so to have taken part and won such a competition demonstrates that the rural areas can compete on an equal with the urban areas. Maybe you have inspired careers in the world of The Judiciary.

Your role in educating our future generations seems to get more demanding every year and I would like to offer recognition of your huge achievement in managing to fit this into your curriculum and congratulate your very successful pupils on this truly amazing success.

Yours sincerely,

Anna.
